FEATURES

36 A Tribute to Frans Vester: Musician, Scholar, Author

by Mia Dreese

The prolific and incisive work of this Dutch scholar and teacher, one of the 20th century's greatest contributors to flute playing and its repertoire, is described in this article by a former student.

42 Playing with History: A New Look at Old Favorites—The Mozart Flute Concerti

by Yvonne Kendall

Mozart's alleged reputation as a flute hater is quashed in this re-examination of his delightful flute concerti, in which the meager quantity of the repertoire—he wrote only two—is solidly trumped by their quality.

48 Robert Langevin: A Career of Coincidences

by Susan Goodfellow

The little-known but highly regarded flutist followed great conductors—and his own instincts—in his travels from Montreal to Pittsburgh to the New York Philharmonic.

52 ICONS: Full Convention Schedule

by Emily McKay

The 34th NFA Convention is August 10–13 in Pittsburgh.
