FEATURES

20 I Got Hungarian Rhythm!

by Walfrid Kujala

Online resources and the author's own insights can help flutists appreciate and apply key elements in the authentic Hungarian folk songs painstakingly recorded by Béla Bartók in the early 20th century.

26 Mythology and Humor: The Flute Works of Thorkell Sigurbjörnsson

by Jonathan Borja

The composer, teamed with two important flutists, launched Iceland's flute music tradition. His Kalais, written in 1976, is considered the oldest piece in Icelandic solo flute repertoire.

36 Borrowed Melodies for Tone and Interpretation Practice

by Joanna White

An annotated bibliography offers melodic books to use for developing musical expression.
