12-12:15pm	Eric Hoover performs the Music of James DeMars	SL
Zona ArtSpace (224 AB)	The Seventh Healing Song of John Joseph (Blue) for flute and recorded sounds was written for flutist Eric Hoover who recorded the flute parts and premiered the work in 1983. Manipulated acoustic sounds were brought together to create a "dialogue with the supernatural" and an evocation of Southwestern cultures in which the shaman may incorporate repetitive color imagery (usually red or blue), ceremonial drums and hypnotic mandalas. In this way the "Healing Song" becomes itself an artifact of honor and fascination for those gifted individuals who practice the mystical art of healing.
12:15-1pm	Historical Development of the Flute	LR
226 BC	What did the traverse flute look like 300 years ago? How did it sound? How did it develop and why? A look through its history with 9 different flutes. Presentation by Magda Schwerzmann with harpsichordist Tigran Buniatyan.

12:45-1:30pm 228 AB	Invisible Borders, Sonic Footprint	LR
	Audrey Cullen's premiere of a newly commissioned work by Dr. Laura Brackney will begin with a lecture by ethnomusicologist and transborder scholar Cameo Flores. The collaborative piece explores the sound of borders, more specifically, sounds of the Arizona-Mexico borderlands and the experiences of the migrants that travel across it using site-specific field recordings and found objects mixed with live flute, both traditional and constructed from borderland materials. The performance will be followed by a short Q&A with the composer.
1-1:30pm 221 AB	The Ten-Year Lunch	CR, MM
	Dorothy Parker, an American poet/writer/satirist, was a powerful female intellect nearly a century ago and a charter member of the Algonquin Round Table — a group of New York City writers, actors, musicians, critics and wits who met for lunch each day at the Algonquin Hotel from roughly 1919 to 1929. During lunches they ate, drank, discussed politics, exchanged wisecracks, and collaborated on articles, critiques and poetry. The Ten Year Lunch is an imaginative retelling of one of these lunches, with music, projections, narration and accessories. Sandy Schwoebel performs with soprano Elena Galbraith and pianist Marie Sierra.
1-1:30pm 222 AB	Ink Aloud - Stories through Sound	SL
	Leanna Keith performs a program of her works for flute and looper. Each was commissioned by the Bushwick Book Club with one singular prompt: read a book, and then write and perform a piece about it. The stories include sci-fi, psychological fiction, memoir, and poetry.
1-2:15pm Zona ArtSpace (224 AB)	Her Voice: Music and Poetry by Women ~ New Classics ~ Janus Project Part I	CR, MI
	Works by Beth Denisch, Valerie Coleman, Daniel Dorff (premier), Martin Kennedy, Allison Loggins-Hull and Johan Amberg, performed by Beth Chandler Cahill, Alina Windell and Nancy Stagnitta (Janus Project Part I - flute, piano, oboe and clarinet). Support provided by Brannen Brothers Flutemakers, Inc.

4:30-5pm Zona ArtSpace (224 AB)	Metamorphosis Suite Born and raised in South and West Phoenix, Chicano flutist, Chaz Salazar, employs "classical" music as a tool for social justice and community building. Race equity is at the core of his work through the intersections of performance, teaching artistry, and musical activism. Salazar performs "Metamorphosis", a moving, unaccompanied work for flute, piccolo and alto flute written by his friend, Arturo Rodriguez. The work was inspired by the composer's fascination with butterflies. Rodriguez believes that the spirits of those who have passed are carried by butterflies. After the death of Rodriguez' grandmother, the sight of a white butterfly signified his grandmother's presence. He carries that belief to this very day. The work is dedicated to his late grandmother, Margarita Tirrez.	SL
4:30-5:30pm 222 AB	Graduate Research Competition 2023 winners will present their research and findings.	CO
4:30-5:15pm 228 AB	Minimal Dreams Victor Somma, a Brazilian flutist and composer based in Belgium, performs a series of his pieces for soprano, alto, bass flutes and looper pedal, which evoke the archetypes of the subconscious mind by translating some of the ancestral sounds of Afro-Amerindian flutes into the context of modern flutes. The looper pedal creates a kaleidoscope, in which countless melodic layers are superimposed and interspersed in a profusion of ideas that create a type of composition that is partly the composer's mind and partly created at the very moment of the performance.	SL, MM
4:30-6pm 231 AB	High School Masterclass with Orlando "Maraca" Valle Three flutists will be selected from the recorded round of the High School Soloist Competition to perform for Orlando "Maraca" Valle. Support for Orlando "Maraca" Valle's appearance is provided by Gemeinhardt.	CO, MC

Friday, August 4

8:30-9:30am 221 AB	Le Quintette Instrumental de Paris Between 1922 and 1965, the Quintette instrumental de Paris, also known as the Quintette Pierre Jamet, consisting of flute, violin, viola, cello, and harp, was one of the most prominent chamber groups in the world. It dominated the Parisian chamber music series, performed 1800 concerts in Paris and on tour throughout Europe, North America, and northern Africa. The quintet also appeared on national broadcasts, recorded 78-rpm and LP records, and commissioned around fifty works. The early history of the Quintette is tied to Debussy's Sonata for Flute, Viola, and Harp. Its flutists were René LeRoy until 1940 and then Gaston Crunelle. In this lecture-recital, Leonard Garrison summarizes his research on the quintet during a 2022 sabbatical leave in Paris. Attendees will hear samples of the ensemble's hard-to find recordings and a live performance of Gabriel Pierné's Voyage au pays du Tendre (1935).	LR, MI
8:30-9am 222 AB	Inclusive Flutist: Expanding the Intermediate Repertoire Nadine Luke will explore and present flute repertoire from underrepresented composers for early intermediate through early advanced students. The goal of this lecture/recital and the forthcoming website is to present inclusive, accessible resources for students and teachers who want to share repertoire that is "beyond the boundaries" of traditional intermediate repertoire, and that is more representative of the diverse population of 21st-century flute students.	LR
8:30-9:30am 227 ABC	Beyond Personal Borders: Transcending Your Musical Self Using 12 Step Program Principles This lecture is designed to address the feelings of self-doubt, the experience of 'imposter syndrome', and the common feelings of being musically 'stuck' or stale. Using the famous 12 Steps of Alcoholics Anonymous to apply to our shared experiences as musicians, this lecture will help attendees move beyond their personal borders and redirect themselves to free their next best version of their inner artist. Angeleita Floyd, author of The Gilbert Legacy (Winzer Press, LLC), presents new findings from current research on Gilbert's life. Floyd sheds light on Gilbert's approach and revolutionary role in the transition from wooden to silver flute, alongside his adoption of the French style of flute playing in Britain and the UK. Dr. Floyd offers an engaging exploration of Gilbert's life as an orchestral principal and one of the Twentieth century's most transformational teachers.

8:30-9:15am Avian Innovation CR
 Zona ArtSpace (224 AB) Classical music audiences grow up listening to the musical trope of flute-as-bird: light, graceful, often airborne. This series of new works for flute quartet by living female composers explores the sounds of the flute as a bird, but with a twist: what if the birds are flightless, like chickens? Behaving strangely, as with the flamingo ballet? Or when they fly together en masse, as with the noisy - and sometimes messy - flocks of starlings? Works by Kimberly Osberg, Anne McKennon and Lisa Bost-Sandberg are performed by Elizabeth Robinson, Karen Large, Laura Pillman, Mary Matthews and Noah Pool.
