FEATURES

- 20 The Life and Flute Music of Anna Bon di Venezia
by Mary Matthews
The handful of compositions by this young, critically heralded 18th-century composer are drawing increasing attention among publishers, but her canon has not yet become part of established performance repertoire.
- 26 The Performer-Composer: Jumping Off
by Jane Rigler
Composing flute music along with playing it might seem too daunting to consider. But this composer, and six others, advises giving it a try. Each artist offers insights in the what, the how, and—most important—the why behind your composing adventure.
- 30 Giulio Briccialdi: The Maganini of the Flute
by Ginevra Petrucci
Born 200 years ago, the “prince of flutists” was a universally praised flutist living at a time of unequalled levels of virtuosity. He also excelled at composition, conducting, and—alongside the work of Theodore Böhm himself—flute design.
- 38 Robert Willoughby
by Robert Bigio
A longtime friend describes the roots, life, and work of this beloved and nationally renowned master flutist and pedagogue.
- 55 Excellence in August
by Jeremy Benson
The outgoing NFA Young Artist Competition chair offers insights on the annual event—and guidance for future contenders.
